

Online safety survey

Thank you to those who completed the online safety parent survey. With the majority of you stating that you would find it most helpful to have advice and help given through newsletters and the website, we will aim to do this and trust that it will help with the concerns that were raised through the survey.

One of the main concerns raised in the survey was safety settings on online devices; predominately laptops, phones and tablets.

The links below lead to helpful tips and advice in this particular area.
